Doris started cycling competitively; in 1941 at the age of 12, for the Wolverine Sports Club (based in Detroit). She was the first, and still is the only WOMAN, to win four consecutive National Championships, 1947-1950, giving Detroit its first National Cycling Champion.

It was also common for Doris to go undefeated in many of her match style events, such as in her 1947 National Championship win where she received a perfect 10 points in the half mile and mile events. At one time Doris also held the fastest one-mile time for both women and men.

Doris also won the 1947 International Dirt Track Championships in Dayton, Ohio, and the 1948 International Sprint Championships, also in Dayton. In 1948 she won the Milwaukee Classic and placed second in the Keystone State Classic.

In 1974 Doris was inducted into the Michigan Amateur Hall of Fame. Finally, after several years of voting and promoting of Doris, she was inducted into the United States Bicycle Hall of Fame, on 11/16/2013.
